A web-based application management system for grants and awards.

Launching a grant or award program?

It's easy with Nimble Net.

1. Use our application questions or create your own.
2. Link your site to a unique log-on URL.
3. Promote your program.
4. Judge applications and enter scores online.
5. Determine your winners.

Leave your data on Nimble Net to link to future programs or download the data for import to grant management or other standards-based systems.

You don't know what you're missing until it's too late.

If you're using paper or pdf applications, you don't know what you're missing until after the application deadline. With real-time access to application data, you can focus communications to under-represented populations and increase support for those who need it. We increased one client's completion rate to 75 percent.

Best practices make the most of your giving dollars.

We've already designed and developed a proven application process. We help you customize your questions and judging criteria to meet your program goals. Our strategic marketing and communications services help craft your message and deliver it. Our data analysis and summary reports help you refine your program and prepare metric-based board presentations.
